Skills snapshot Environment, energy and earth

This snapshot includes the most popular specialist and software skills most sought after by recruiting employers between October 2021 and September 2022 in the UK. It also shows the top SOC occupations within each group that employers have been recruiting for over the past year.

Top SOC occupations
Environment, UK, Oct 2021 to Sept 2022

- Environment professionals
- Production managers and directors in mining and energy
- Quarry workers and related operatives
- Energy plant operatives
- Coal mine operatives

Key job posting figures
(Oct 2021 to Sept 2022)

- Unique postings: 21,000
- Median advertised salary: £37,568

Key labour force figures

- Jobs 2021: 76,100
- Job growth (%) 2030: 3.2%

Top 10 software skills
Environment, UK, Oct 2021 to Sept 2022

- Microsoft Excel
- Microsoft Office
- Geographic Information Systems
- Microsoft PowerPoint
- Microsoft Outlook
- Power BI
- React Native
- JavaScript (programming language)
- Microsoft Azure
- Enterprise planning systems

Top 15 specialist skills
Environment, UK, Oct 2021 to Sept 2022

- Environmental health
- Environmental consulting
- Environmental science
- Environmental resource management
- Environmental laws
- Environmental impact assessments
- Land tenure
- Ecology
- Environmental managements systems
- Environmental permitting
- Energy management
- Environmentalism
- Dozer
- Water quality
- Pollution prevention

Note:
The 'specialist' skills lists included in this snapshot have been extracted by their relative importance to the thematic career group and then ranked by the frequency with which they appear in job postings related to the group.

Software skills may overlap with specialist skills, depending on prevalence.

Source: Lightcast Job Postings